Knightsundere (Owen Knight) is a pixel artist and writer from California [United States]. He uses a large range of techniques, but his self-described “signature” style is a low color-count feathering technique, with heavy influence from the Russian Dither forms, especially those of Deceiver and Finlal. His colors are typically low in saturation. Red and blue are the most common - green is almost never used in his pieces.

First pixel art postings for Knightsundere began on Pixeljoint, though he was a very frequent user of the site Planet Minecraft for a few years beforehand, where he posted Minecraft skins and texture packs. He works with a Minecraft Marketplace content creation group, Pathway Studios, from October 2017 forward. He credits his interest in pixel art to his early Minecraft skins.

He speaks English.
